

Creating Your Own Podcast

- Let’s explore what a podcast is and how you can create your own!

What is a Podcast?

- A podcast is a digital audio program available on the Internet.
- It can be informative, entertaining, or educational.
- Usually presented as a series of episodes focused on a specific theme.

Features of a Podcast

- Conversational and engaging tone.
- Clear purpose and target audience.
- May include interviews, storytelling, or discussions.
- Can include sound effects and background music.

Planning Your Podcast

1

Choose a topic (Your final project).

2

Define your audience (e.g., students, other members of FATEC RC, etc).

3

Write a short script or outline.

Task Instructions

- You will prepare a podcast episode entirely in English, presenting your Final Project.
- You should briefly and clearly explain your main goal, your target audience, the methodology used, and the expected contributions.
- Create a script to be used during the recording of your podcast. Remember: don’t read it only!
- The tone should feel like a “conversation” with your listeners. Try to engage them as much as possible.

Task Instructions

- Include an introduction and a conclusion.
- If possible, add music and sound effects.
- The recording should be at least 10 minutes long.
- Include every member of your group. Everyone's voice should be heard on the recording!
- Some ideas: use dialogues or interviews (for example, a host talking with guests).

Opening sentences

"Hello, everyone, and welcome to our series of "AI and health projects"! I'm [your name], and I'm so happy you're here."

"Hi there! This is one more episode of "AI and health projects", a space for you to know more about how technology can help you improve your health".

"Hey guys! Thanks for tuning in to one more episode of "AI and health projects", where you can learn more about AI and your health".

"Welcome back to another episode of "AI and health projects". Today, we're going to talk about…"

"Hi, everyone! Let's learn a bit more about AI and your health in today's episode."

Tips for interview/co-hosted/panel podcast

Encourage natural conversation and active listening. For example, you may say: “That’s interesting! Can you give an example?”

Ask follow-up or clarifying questions.

Let each person bring a unique view or story.

Maintain clear roles (host, guest, moderator). One person explains, the other clarifies, or challenges. You may correct each other.

More Tips

- Organize clear sections (e.g., AI today; Health issues in Rio Claro). Make transitions.
- Include brief music or sound effects between parts. Say: “Let’s take a quick break…and now, back to our language tip of the day!”
- End with a call to action (“Access our website for more tips!”).
- Encourage listener engagement outside the episode: “If you’d like me to talk about a topic you’re curious about, send me a message on Instagram @AI and Health at FATEC_RC.”

Closing sentences

"That's all for today! Thanks for listening, and stay tuned!"

"I hope you enjoyed this episode of "AI and Health". See you next time!"

"Don't forget to follow the podcast and share it with your friends who are also interested in AI!"

"Keep learning, keep smiling, and see you in the next episode!"

"Thanks for listening — bye for now!"

Organizing you podcast

- The leader of the group will help you decide the roles of each participant.
- Decide who will do what (and when).
- Choose the most important things that you should say about your project.
- Use simple language that any layperson/non-expert can understand.
- Decide how to make your presentation as informative and engaging as possible.

Recording Tips

- PRACTICE (a lot!!!) before recording the final version.
- Find a quiet place to record.
- Use a phone or computer microphone (with headphones if possible).
- Speak clearly and naturally.

Editing and Sharing

- If possible, edit your audio with free apps like Audacity https://audio.com/?utm_medium=DP&utm_source=google&utm_campaign=AC_WW_DP_GGL_WEB_ALL_200426_AUDACITY or Spotify https://creators.spotify.com/
- Add an intro and outro (music or voice).
- Check volume and clarity before sharing.
- Share on Google Classroom.
- Deadline: Nov. 25

- Be creative and have fun!
